

SENATORS BEGIN THE OPPOSITION

DANIELS OF VIRGINIA SAYS THAT DEMOCRATS TOOK NO PART IN DELIBERATIONS.

CLAIM TO SEE A JOKER

Another Meeting of the Conference Committee is Called For This Afternoon.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—Upon convening at ten today the Senate at once took up the consideration of the conference report on the tariff. With the tariff conference report facing a threatened defeat in the Senate on account of the alleged joker in the hide and leather compromise it was decided this afternoon to reconvene the conference committee for the purpose of preparing an official explanation. The conference will meet later today.

After the conclusion of the reading of the conference report Senator Daniel, the senior democratic member of the Finance committee, in a speech arranged for the conference committee, for excluding the democratic members.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY SUNDAY'S STORM

Rain Yesterday Was Accompanied by Hail and Wind in Many Localities.

While the rain which fell Sunday was a great blessing to the farmers throughout the county in some sections it was accompanied by hail and wind that did considerable damage. Near Union several fields of corn were laid flat, as though by a knife and the same was badly injured. It will be plowed under. In the town of Porter the storm was also extremely severe. As far as can be learned the storm did not extend further north than Lake Kegonsa and went as far south as McHenry. Illinois. Between this city and McHenry the roads were badly washed and several automobile parties had to abandon their trips owing to the weather. In the town of Rock it is reported that Finley's large barn was blown down. The Wisconsin Telephone company also lost some of its poles.

BARCELONA NOT THROUGH

With the Strikers and Insurgents As Yet—Shoot Down Leaders on Sunday.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Barcelona, Aug. 2.—Reports from this city are all strictly watched by the Spanish officials so that the true state of affairs is not probably known. According to dispatches sent out order has been almost completely restored in the city proper.

Still Fighting. It is known that in the suburbs the fighting is still going on and that the rebels are fighting desperately. The dead are found on every street and women and young children are found in the mobs opposite the soldiers and police.

No Communication. There is no railroad communication with the outside world as yet and this is taken to indicate that the revolt of the people is not at an end. The Governor General, however, sends encouraging dispatches to the Madrid officials.

Kills Many. London, Aug. 2.—Dispatches received from Corbore report that a hundred and nineteen of the insurgent leaders at Barcelona were sentenced to death by court-martial and were put to death on Sunday at Ft. Montjuich in the presence of many.

Is Confirmed. The heavy fighting and shooting down of the insurgent leaders as fast as captured has been confirmed by official dispatches received from Madrid. The condition is thought to be very critical throughout the entire kingdom.

MANY ATTENDED THE BIG HOME COMING

Watertown Had Gala Day Yesterday—Judge Grimm Gave Address in Afternoon.

Threatening skies and thunder showers were not sufficient to prevent a number of Janesville people from attending the big homecoming celebration, which was held yesterday at Watertown. The rain, however, did not keep them from having a fine time, for in spite of all, the crowds at the big celebration enjoyed themselves immensely. There was a grand street parade with four bands and other attractions. The feature of the occasion was the afternoon program at Tivoli island, attended by large crowds. Mayor Mulberger of Watertown and Judge Grimm, circuit judge of this circuit, were among the speakers. The pleasure of the afternoon was lessened by the downpour but the crowds remained for the speeches in spite of the weather.

JANESVILLE TAKES AN IMPORTANT PART

Drill Team of Local Woodmen of the World Take Part in Grand Rapids.

Yesterday at Grand Rapids, Wis., the drill team of Janesville, Camp No. 12, W. O. W., took part in the initiation exercises of a class of 104 candidates. Two hundred and forty-seven Sovereigns of the order were in the line of march, which was headed by the Grand Rapids band of thirty pieces, followed by the Janesville drill team. A public entertainment at the fair grounds consisting of a drill by the Janesville degree team, music by the band and speeches by Sovereign Pomahville, mayor of Grand Rapids, and Manager Will T. Moss of Madison, was given. From the grounds the company marched to the hall, where the Janesville team conferred the degrees on the candidates. The team from the Lower City camp is the best drilled in the state of Wisconsin and for this reason was selected for the work yesterday.

Narragansett Pier, R. I., Aug. 2.—The Point Judith Country club is to hold the center of the polo stage this week, the occasion being the fourteenth national tournament to decide the senior and junior championships. The difference is not in the age, but in the skill of the players, although in both tournaments the teams play without handicaps. Yet the eligibility of the teams is based on the individual handicaps of the players.

The Junior, for which the perpetual trophy is a cup presented by Samuel D. Warren, of Boston, is for teams of four whose aggregate handicaps do not exceed twenty goals, none of the players to have a higher handicap than five goals. The two championships are distinctly separate events, the winners of the junior championship not having the privilege of an entry in the senior championship.

A cup presented by William Waldorf Astor through the Tuxedo club is the senior championship trophy, open to any team of four. Following the championship events there will be play for the Narragansett cups for teams of four under the existing handicap; the Rhode Island cups, for teams of four whose aggregate handicap does not exceed ten goals, no member to exceed three goals.

Forty thousand dollars in purses will be distributed among the winners.

CZAR WAS GUEST OF KING HENRY TODAY

Emperor Nicholas and Family Visited English Monarch at Ports.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Aug. 2.—The twelfth-century guns at Portsmouth joined with the naval guns of the greatest fleet ever assembled under the British flag in giving the Russian emperor a noble welcome this morning as the Imperial yacht Standard entered the Solent and dropped anchor at the mouth of the St. Helens. On behalf of the Imperial party the Russian cruisers Turik and Admiral Makarov, acting as escort to the Standard, returned the royal salute. King Edward, with Queen Alexandra and other members of the royal family, were on hand to greet Emperor Nicholas and his party. The day being a bank holiday, great crowds of holiday-makers went down from London to witness the arrival of the czar and the attendant naval spectacle. Tomorrow the czar will witness the race for the King's cup, the chief yachting event of the Cowes regatta.

HOLD REUNION AFTER A LONG SEPARATION

Former Resident and Her Brother Did Not See One Another for 51 Years.

After fifty-one years of separation, Mrs. Theresa Phelps, now of Milwaukee, but for five years a resident of Janesville, and her brother, Michael Schelwenner of Peoria, Ill., have reunited and are visiting at Mrs. Phelps' daughter's home in Milwaukee. Mrs. Phelps came to Janesville in 1853 just after her marriage to Gerry Phelps, and lived here until 1858, when she last saw her brother at her old home in Shelbyville. A month ago a daughter of Mrs. Phelps went to Peoria, Ill., a few miles from Peoria, and so she resolved to look for the missing brother. A search of two days was necessary, when they found him at work as a railway crossing. He had been in business but had given it up, and was almost alone in the world, his wife and children having died. Last Friday he went to Milwaukee to meet his sister and after an affectionate exchange of greetings, they went to a photographer and had their pictures taken. During the period of their separation brother and sister were not separated from one another by more than four hundred miles.

GOOD MEN WILL NOT TAKE PLACES

PRIMARY LAW AFFECTS INDIANAPOLIS QUITE SERIOUSLY.

EXPENSE IS TOO GREAT

Business Men of City Allege That Candidates for City Offices Are Unfit.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 2.—One of the most heated campaigns in the history of the city has practically reached its end and on Thursday it will culminate in the first primary election under the new law, at which candidates for mayor, city clerk, police judge and members of the city council will be chosen. In accordance with the new law both parties must hold their primaries at the same time and places.

The campaign just drawing to a close was characterized by an unusual scarcity of good candidates of recognized ability for the mayoralty, and it is asserted that the new primary law is directly responsible for this state of affairs. As the law now stands it becomes necessary for every one who wishes to become a candidate for any elective office to pass through the hurdles and defray the expense of two campaigns, one for the nomination at the primaries, the other for election. Businessmen of ability and men of affairs cannot afford to go through two campaigns and for that reason could not be induced to stand for nomination at the coming primaries. Of course, there must be candidates and if the men of prominence and ability refuse to run, there are enough professional politicians and small men of inferior ability, who are only too anxious to become candidates and to fight for their election should it require four campaigns instead of merely two.

In the present case the result has been, it is charged by businessmen opposing the new primary law, that most of the candidates, on both sides, are of an inferior grade and are believed to be wanting in those essentials that would reflect honor upon the city. The candidates, knowing that they had no favors to expect from the professional hard workers and party hustlers, to gain their object, have resorted to every probability that the law nominations under the new law will be made not by the men who pay the taxes but by those who care nothing for consequences so they get to slunk down the plums.

Charles B. Clark and Charles Gauss are trying to obtain the democratic nomination for Mayor, while Newton W. Harding and Lew Shank are asking for the republican nomination. Clark is an attorney, Gauss is a tinner by trade. He was nominated and elected to the legislature by the democrats last year, and voted steadily with the anti-local-option advocates in that body. The temperance people are opposed to him because of the supposed domination of the liquor element which is supposed to be backing his candidacy.

Clark is backed by Tom Taggart and is also believed by the prohibition people to be controlled by the liquor element. The democrats who are acquainted with Taggart's methods and his heavy connections believe that he has caused the cause of Clark in order that no matter which candidate is nominated, the brewery interests will be protected.

Of the two republican candidates Harding is a lawyer, Shank an auctioneer. Harding was candidate for mayor several years ago and was defeated by one of the largest majorities ever recorded in a city election. The republicans had a normal majority of 2,500, and Harding was defeated by a majority of nearly 4,000. It is generally believed that he has consented to be a candidate for the nomination only because the two democratic candidates are considered very poor and weak, which would probably enable him to defeat them at the election, should he succeed in obtaining the nomination.

Shank is known as "The Limb" among the business interests of the city. He is an auctioneer and a part master of all the arts known to the profession. He is running a daily advertisement in the newspapers, in which he appears with a broad grin on his face over the motto: "I am for honesty in politics as well as in business."

CANDIDATES FEEL IT A DUTY TO DO THE WORK WITH A WILL

Marvelous Interest Displayed and Great Contest Gains Headway

Each Day—Realization has Come of Splendid Chance Open to all—Everyone in Earnest.

The 500 Ballots, Last Wednesday's

"Special," Greatly Increases Standing of Working Contestants.

Beginning Monday, Aug. 2nd, and continuing throughout the contest, every ballot issued on payment of subscription, will bear the name of a contestant.

This bars the buying and selling of ballots. Heretofore ballots have been issued without the name of a contestant upon them for the purpose of giving subscribers an opportunity to think of and nominate a favorite. "A Fair Deal to All."

These elegant Newman Iron pianos are well worth a few weeks' work of subscription getting and coupon clipping. The great contest is gaining headway each day, the full wave of enthusiasm has struck the candidates and voters are now pouring in by the thousands.

Up to 7 p. m. Saturday almost every contestant was represented in the big ballot box, loyal followers keeping their promises to their favorite candidates by calling at this office, paying their subscriptions or leaving coupons in their behalf.

Each mail brings in thousands of votes from the country districts and it is now an unbroken fact that this great contest will prove one of the most popular events this county has witnessed for some time.

Popular, because of the elegant array of practical and valuable prizes given and also due to the fact that each and every contestant feels sure that she will win a square deal and win on merit alone.

If your name is not on yet among the list of contestants, and this great proposition appeals to you, fill out the nomination blank, send it to the contest manager and swing into this great contest with a determination to win.

If your name appears in this list, be a winner, don't delay, today is the day.

One of those elegant prizes is for you, and you can win it, but you must act quickly. Use the telephone and call upon as many as possible, also get a few new subscribers in the vote is sent to you on them will soon put you to the head of your district. "The Gazette is Janesville's leading newspaper. A trial twelve months' subscription will convince the most skeptical that this is true and new subscribers are not hard to find.

There is no end of interest centered in this contest. The eyes of the public are focused upon each young lady's endeavors. It is an honor to be in this race and it will be a still greater honor to win out. Of course it is impossible to predict the outcome of the contest at the present, as the records

now do not necessarily indicate future standing and success in winning.

The subscribers are coming in more rapidly each day and the number of votes which are going out as reserves exceed the number of votes which are being cast. Despite this fact the daily increase in the votes is noticeable and the people all over

Janesville and vicinity are watching with anxiousness the outcome of the race. It is a good idea to poll a few votes from day to day to let people see you are in earnest in the matter and really desire one of the Gazette's prizes.

Subscription Books.

Contestants and their friends are privileged to accept payments on subscriptions and in order that they may receive for such payments we will provide them with a receipt book upon request.

Important to Contestants.

The attention of contestants is especially called to the fact that the votes in the ballot box are counted every morning at 9 o'clock and that lots put into the box after that hour will not be counted until the following morning. Considerable misunderstanding seems to exist in regard to this matter and the management must draw a strict line on the question.

Hereafter votes which are desired to appear in the following evening's issue must positively and with no exception be in the ballot box before 9 o'clock A. M.

TELLS OF LABOR OF A LOCAL FIRM

WILLIAM E. CURTIS WRITES OF WESTERN IRRIGATION WORK.

THE BELLE FOURCHE DAM

This is the Structure That Haynes Bros. Are Building for the Government.

Janesville people will be much interested in the article on the Belle Fourche project in South Dakota as described by William E. Curtis in a Chicago paper. Not only is a Janesville firm, Haynes Bros. & Co., doing the work, but also many Janesville men have worked on the project and are there now. Mr. Curtis says of the work and the results that will be obtained, when completed, as follows: "The most eagerly of the irrigation works under construction by the federal government to reclaim the arid lands of the west is on the Belle Fourche river, just north of the Black Hills, in Butte and Meade counties, South Dakota. You know that several years ago congress passed an act providing that the proceeds of the future sales of public lands should be used as working capital for the perpetual construction of reservoirs and irrigating ditches to reclaim the desert lands of the west which otherwise would be available for nothing but pastures. In other words, the money is to be re-invested perpetually until the arid belt is made susceptible of agriculture. As fast as each of the thirteen projects now under construction is completed the irrigated land will be sold to actual settlers at a price that will cover the cost of the plant, and when all of the land is taken up and paid for the irrigation works will be turned over by the government to a co-operative company organized by the purchasers.

"The proceeds of the sale of irrigated lands is deposited in a special fund in the treasury for the construction of other projects for which surveys have been made in all the arid states and more than a hundred reservoir sites reserved. As fast as the money is available each of these in turn will be utilized. The projects that have been planned and are already under construction will add to the arid area of the United States about 32,000,000 acres, or about 400,000 farms of eighty acres each. The Belle Fourche project will irrigate about 1,500 farms, or about 100,000 acres of land by 40 miles, more or less. Of this area about one-half belongs to private parties, home-owners and other settlers who have previously taken up government lands; about 5,000 acres belongs to the state of South Dakota, being school sections, and the remaining 50,000 acres belongs to the government and is being rapidly taken up in tracts of forty and eighty acres, which are the farm units, and are about as much irrigated land as one family can cultivate. Settlers are required to pay a filing fee of $7 and actually live on the land for five years, paying $30 an acre for their water rights in installments of 10 per cent each year.

"The state land is offered for sale at $10 an acre plus the proportionate cost of the irrigation system, which is collected by the general government. Private lands are being offered from $10 to $20 an acre, according to location and improvements, and they also are taxed $2 an acre for ten successive years to pay for the water rights. About 15,000 acres are already under irrigation and about 60 per cent of the land has been taken up, most of it in tracts of eighty acres, by actual farmers, who have been renting in town, Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri, and have come out here so that they may secure farms of their own.

"Everybody here tells me that no man should attempt to run a farm without at least $1,000 working capital to start with, as there are so many expenses before harvesting the first crop. Many of the new settlers are the sons of farmers in the central states, and several of their daughters have come out here also.

"The Belle Fourche irrigation system consists of about 1,000 miles of ditches, including 100 miles of main canals, twenty to forty feet wide, and from five to ten feet deep, and about 700 miles of laterals from four to six feet wide and two feet deep. These ditches will be fed from an artificial lake twelve miles long, an average of three miles wide and 115 feet deep at its deepest part. It is a peculiarly shaped body of water owing to the configuration of the ground, and there will be several islands caused by high knolls.

"This reservoir is created by the construction of a dam between two hills 5,000 feet (or 225 feet more than a mile) long, and 115 feet high. It is built of earth, 500 feet thick at the base and 20 feet thick at the top.

"In making the dam the earth has been crushed to a powder and then spread in layers six inches deep, after being moistened with water from a hose, and then rolled with a 24-ton traction engine until it is packed down almost as hard as stone. The outside is covered with turf protected from the wash by three concrete gutters running parallel. The turf is laid on twelve inches of soil dressing. On the water side of the dam the earth is faced with twenty-four inches of gravel and then a layer of concrete paving blocks eight inches thick, which have been made at a gravel bank six miles distant. The work was commenced in 1905 and is now about 70 per cent completed. More than three-fourths has been done under contract by Haynes Brothers of Janesville, Wis., and the National Security company of New York. They have between four and five hundred men at work at present.

"The dam is twelve miles from the flourishing little town of Belle Fourche, and the water which feeds it is taken from the river about two miles from the city through a sluice into which it is conducted by a diverting dam. The lake will contain about 8,712,000 cubic feet of water, which is equivalent to a body of water covering 200,000 acres of land one foot deep.

WANTS HUMAN SKIN TO SAVE A KANGAROO'S LIFE

Keeper of Milwaukee Zoo Will Call for Volunteers to Give Cuticle for Animal.

THE BELLE FOURCHE DAM

This is the Structure That Haynes Bros. Are Building for the Government.

Milwaukee, Aug. 2.—Edward Dean, keeper of the Washington park zoo, will put the lovers of animal life to the supreme test if he carries out a plan to call for volunteers to surrender a few inches of human skin to be grafted on the amputated leg of a kangaroo. The recovery of the animal from the shock resulting from the amputation recently of an injured leg has received a serious setback, and the skin grafting operation is now thought to be the only thing that will save his life. The kangaroo is a frail, delicate animal, and doctors who have been consulted by Mr. Dean have declared that human skin is the only kind that can be used successfully. The hurry, or course skin of any other animal, it is said, could not be successfully grafted. The question which now puzzles Mr. Dean and his associates is where the skin is coming from. Animal lovers there are in plenty who visit the park and admire the animals, but when it comes to asking them to part with their skin it's quite a different matter, says Mr. Dean. But unless some one comes forward in the near future and offers to undergo the painful operation a call may be sent out for volunteers.

CZAR IS GUEST OF KING.

Russian Ruler Protected by Strong Guard Goes to Cowes.

Cherbourg, Aug. 2.—The czar of Russia, who has been the guest of President Fallieres since Saturday, left today for Cowes to visit King Edward of Great Britain. He was accompanied half way by a division of the French fleet.

The final day of the visit of Emperor Nicholas to France was attended with beautiful weather. Crowds lined the shores of the harbor to watch the spectacle of the imperial yacht and the various warships and to witness the illuminated fleet.

The whole tenor of the official utterances of President Fallieres and Emperor Nicholas during the visit has indicated that the Franco-Russian alliance remains the keystone of the policy of the two powers in the interest of peace.

The sensation of the day was the distribution by the socialist at the barracks of the Cherbourg regiment of 2,500 copies of a manifesto against the visit of Emperor Nicholas. Several Russian socialists and two men, alleged to be Russian anarchists, arrived.

CHINESE OFFICIAL MURDERED.

Vice-Consul in New York Shot Down by Countryman.

New York, Aug. 2.—Wong Dow Chueng, the undersized Americanized Chinese cook who shot and killed his vice-consul, Dr. Luk Wing, Saturday, was arraigned before the coroner and committed to the Tombs to await the result of the inquest to be held Wednesday. He slept soundly and ate well, but seems depressed and refuses to answer questions. If he has friends, none called on him and he asked to see no one.

What scanty information the police can gather about him is wholly to his discredit. The average Chinaman is frugal and industrious, but Wong had the reputation in Chinatown of being a hard drinker, an untidy worker and chronically in want of cash.

Wing, 41, the Chinese consul here, cannot believe that Dr. Luk Wing, whom he knew as the most gentle and painstaking of aides, ever treated the prisoner harshly or did anything to excite the assault.

Six Killed in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 2.—Search among the ruins of the building at 79 West Third street, which was destroyed Saturday by explosion and fire, causing the death of six persons and injury to seven others, has been discontinued. The police believe all the dead have been accounted for.

Find Smuggled Opium and Cocaine. Manila, Aug. 2.—The government is pressing the investigation of what appears to be an extensive opium-smuggling plot, which was brought to light by the discovery and seizure of 450 pounds of opium and 72 ounces of cocaine concealed in a shipment of machinery from Hongkong.

Beats All French Air Records. Chalons-sur-Marne, Aug. 2.—M. Sommer made a flight of one hour, 50 minutes and 30 seconds duration in his biplane, beating the records of all of the French aviators. It is reported that France intends to call an international conference to discuss the question of aviation.

Brothers in Fatal Duel. Paola, Kan., Aug. 2.—Thomas Cummings was shot to death by his brother, Frank Cummings, in a revolver duel on the public road. The fight was the outgrowth of a family quarrel of long standing.

Discuss Work Among Warriors. Darmstadt-Eberfeld, Germany, Aug. 2.—The conference of Young Men's Christian associations yesterday discussed work among soldiers and sailors of all nations. Prince Bernadotte of Sweden presided.

Original Oil Well Honored.

Golden Anniversary of the First Celebrated in Pennsylvania.

Titusville, Pa., Aug. 2.—The eyes of oilmen will be turned here during the latter end of this month when the golden anniversary of the drilling of the first oil well in the world will be celebrated. The qualities of petroleum had been known for centuries, but it remained for Col. Edwin W. Drake to drill the first artesian well in search of the oleaginous fluid on August 28, 1859, just southeast of Titusville.

Col. Drake came to Titusville in the fall of 1858, in the employ of the Rock Oil Company, which operated at the oil spring, near here. They had obtained the petroleum by draining the water and oil from the spring into settling vats and then skimming off the oil which floated on the surface.

Drake drove a pipe down to bed rock and after drilling tapped a vein of oil which lay 68½ feet below the surface of the earth.

STICK TO WRECKED BOAT.

Crew of 15 Camp on Lake Steamer Partly Sunk in Crash.

Algonac, Mich., Aug. 2.—In a collision with an unidentified steamer last night the steamer Cadillac of Cleveland was sunk in the channel opposite the St. Clair flats. The crew of 15 men camped all night on the boat which lies with one side out of the water. She is laden with coal and bound to northern points.

The Cadillac was upbound and when in the channel opposite Hudson's hotel, the unidentified steamer, also upbound, attempted to pass her. Another steamer, bound down, attempted to pass between the two upbound boats and rammed the Cadillac.

Mrs. W. Leonard, the cook, was taken off in a launch, but the remainder of the crew, numbering 15 men, preferred to remain on the boat.

WILL RUSH THE TARIFF MEASURE

ALDRICH EXPECTS TO PUT BILL THROUGH SENATE THIS WEEK.

HOUSE ADOPTS THE REPORT

Twenty Republicans Vote Against the Measure and Two Democrats Support It, Result Being 105 to 183—Adjournment Friday.

Washington, Aug. 2.—When the battle began in the senate on the conference committee's report on the tariff bill today, predictions were made that the measure will be a law before Saturday and congress will have adjourned.

Inquiry among senators opposed to the adoption of the conference report on the Payne-Aldrich bill indicates that the debate will not be as extended as it threatened to be before the conference reported.

Fight Starts in Senate.

The senate met at ten o'clock this morning. The session probably will begin at that hour each day and will continue until six or seven o'clock daily until the report is adopted. If it is found that more senators desire to speak than have already given notice it is possible that evening sessions may be held.

Senator Aldrich is determined that the conference report shall not be carried over into next week. He does not expect to occupy very much time himself. He said he would not speak longer than an hour or two and that other members of the committee would occupy comparatively little time.

It is probable that senators who were opposed to the placing of hides on the free list will have something to say on that subject and that all of the Republicans who voted against the bill when it was on its passage in the senate will take occasion to explain their action. Some of those senators will vote for the adoption of the conference report and some of them are expected to vote in the negative.

No Filibuster by Democrats.

Senator Culberson, leader of the minority, is authority for the statement that the Democrats will debate the conference report thoroughly, but will not filibuster against its adoption. Senators Daniel and Bailey, members of the committee on finance, will speak at length against the adoption of the report and take the lead in voicing Democratic opposition to the new tariff bill.

Some of the senate leaders predict that a vote will be had on the conference report as early as Thursday and that the special session of congress can be brought to a close on Friday.

After signing the bill President Taft will leave for Beverly, where he will have a stay of something more than five weeks before starting on his long trip through the west and south.

Report Adopted by House.

The house adopted the report Saturday night by a vote of 195 to 183. The vote was the climax of an eleven-hour session, conducted through most oppressive heat, but notwithstanding, it was unenlivened by a dozen or more speeches of more or less fiery nature.

Twenty Republicans voted against the adoption of the report. They were: Cary (Wis.), Davis (Minn.), Gronna (N. D.), Haugen (Iowa), Hubbard (Iowa), Koller (O.), Kendall (Iowa), Lenroot (Wis.), Lindberg (Minn.), Munn (Ill.), Miller (Minn.), Murdoch (Kan.), Nelson (Wis.), Nye (Minn.), Pollock (Wash.), Southwick (N. Y.), Steiwer (Minn.), Stevens (Minn.), Volstead (Minn.), Woods (Iowa).

Two Democrats, Brownawell and E. T. Rappah, voted for the report.

MUST HAVE "MAKINS" NOW.

Law in Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 2.—With the stroke of 12 Saturday night the death knell of the seductive cigarette was supposed to be sounded not only in St. Paul, but throughout the entire state of Minnesota.

It's all a mistake. The users of the "cotton balls," to say nothing of the "pinks," declared there will be more cigarettes than ever before.

Tobacco dealers had a rushing business Saturday and there were all manner of bargain sales in cigarettes before the "closed season" was ushered in. The regular 15-cent packs of "Tall or made" things went for nine cents all day long, and toward midnight they were being sold at three for "two bits," with no questions asked.

The new law does not make the raw material contraband because the different brands of "makin's" are composed of legitimate smoking tobacco. It is no crime to have the papers in this state and the "sports" of St. Paul are only puzzled concerning how to get them.

Railroad Changes Officers.

Washington, Aug. 2.—W. H. Taylor, general passenger agent of the Southern Railway, now is general agent of the freight and passenger department of the road with headquarters at Denver, Col., and H. F. Cary, for several years assistant general passenger agent at Washington, assumed office as general passenger agent.

THE ELECTRICAL WORLD

NOVEL LIQUID HEAT MOTOR.

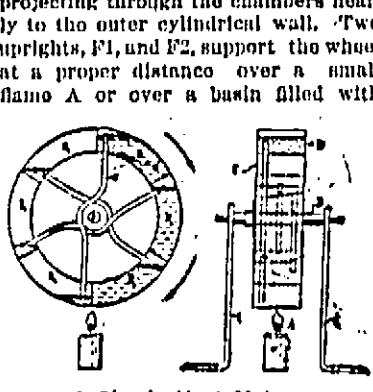

Ether or Acetone Introduced into Chambers Through Small Holes and Air Blown Out by Heating.

Owing to the fact that water in liquid form is nearly incompressible, it cannot be used to perform a cycle of operations such as take place in the steam engine. Theoretically, however, any substance having a temperature above its surroundings is capable of serving as a power generator, says R. V. Houser, in the Scientific American. Disregarding the possibility of thermo-electric conversion of energy, useful mechanical work can be derived through the expansion of vapors of volatile substances. Many liquids are known to pass into vapor under a feeble heat, such as, for instance, the sun's rays.

If other media than water are used as heat carriers, it becomes indispensable to recover the original liquid by means of condensation for economic reasons.

A simple apparatus, which can be made by the handy man, will demonstrate that a very small degree of heat is sufficient for performing light mechanical work.

A disk D, mounted on shaft D, serves as support for six compartments, B1, B2, B3, concentrically arranged about D. These as well as the disk can be made of tin soldered together. Two opposite chambers, for instance, B1 and B4, are connected by a small brass tube C, bent outward at the center to clear the shaft D, and projecting through the chambers nearly to the outer cylindrical wall. Two uprights, F1 and F2, support the wheel at a proper distance over a small flame A or over a basin filled with hot water. One of each pair of chambers is filled with ether or acetone, while the other contains only the vapor of the liquid in an expanded state, but no air at all. The liquid is introduced into the chambers through small holes, and after the air has been blown out (by heating this liquid to the boiling point) each hole is sealed with a drop of solder.

Evidently, when one chamber passes through the hot zone, the liquid vaporizes and passes through the tube to the opposite chamber where it condenses. Thus the center of gravity is constantly changed, causing the wheel to revolve.

ELECTRICAL NOTES.

A wireless telephone is to be used along the coast as a fog signal. It has been tried out and found to work well under heavy weather conditions.

A wireless plant will be installed on the top of the tower of the city hall of Philadelphia, 500 feet above the street.

The idea of the bay of Fundy will be harnessed for electric power.

An electric sand-papier outfit is one of the latest electrical devices.

Electric sirens are in use on the railways of Germany. The sound is produced by the vibrations of a diaphragm under the influence of an electro-magnet.

The adoption of electric furnaces in large steel plants is expected to produce a rail that the highest speed freight engines cannot injure.

A telephone line is being constructed over the Alps which has the highest altitude of any telephone line in the world.

Five million is to be spent to develop a water power 145 miles from Butte, Mont. The electric power will be used in the mines near Butte.

The Maine Central railroad is trying out new electric headlights. The current is supplied from a small steam turbine driven generator mounted on the top of the boiler.

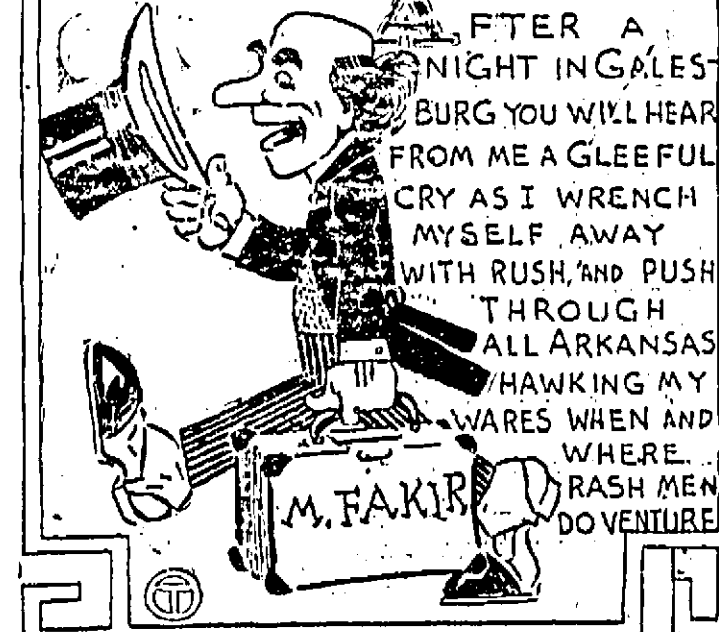

Electric Farming. The use of electric power in large farm operations has already been highly developed in some localities in Germany. The plan is to place a central power plant at the points where it will be convenient for the nearby population, says Rural Affairs.

The electricity is collected in storage batteries, which are then mounted on wheels and taken wherever the power is needed. One of these traveling batteries may be connected with a farmer's power wood-saw to work up the winter's supply in a few hours. Then the battery is moved to the next farm, where it may connect with the grain mill, as shown in one of the illustrations.

Another set of batteries is shown as a truck and dragging a gang plow. Another storage truck at the opposite side of the field draws the plow back again. Besides the portable form of electric power the establishment supplies light, heat and permanent power wherever required in the neighborhood.

Never judge a town by the size of the type with which its name is printed on the map of a railroad that doesn't pass through it.

AT END AT LAST

After four weary months made up of that sort of discussion in which nobody had any real desire to be convinced we are in sight of the end of the tariff legislation. The conference committee has made its report. Congress is considering it and the one item of expenditure involved in the special session called by President Taft last March which the public will pay cheerfully is the traveling expenses of the legislators to their respective homes. There are some honorable exceptions, but it can hardly be said that their efforts have been witnessed by their fellow-countrymen with pride.

It should be generously conceded that President Taft saved his party in some measure from indelible disgrace. Until he took a hand the proceedings were marked by everything which is objectionable in legislation. With less than a dozen exceptions in the senate there was not a man on either side big enough to take a national view of the question, while the democratic party in the House of Representatives voted for what amounted to high protection in actual practice by a substantial majority.

As reported by the joint conference committee, the tariff bill is not an outrageous as the proposition of the senate, and on superficial examination looks rather better than the proposal of the lower house, although we must remember that when protected interests are invited practically to write their own clauses there are certain to be such "jokers" inserted as to insure the highest of protection. The maximum and minimum clauses have itself a tendency to render nugatory what would otherwise be substantial reductions from the Dingley rates.

As a whole the new tariff law, so far as the charges are concerned, is not worth the time it has taken to prepare it, and the consequent disturbance to business. Some particularly outrageous looking have been checked, and Washington was over-run with protected "infants" willing to snatch at anything in sight, from a largely superfluous duty upon steel to the pitiful bit of cotton laces on the work-girl's underclothing. It is to be feared that in too many cases they succeeded, but some of the most outrageous steals were checked by the President's action.

It is a pity that the President did not act earlier. Of course he would have been greeted with the usual whine about interfering with legislation, oblivious of the fact that there never has been a president yet who was not constantly forced to interfere throughout his term of office. He could have forced better terms. The question is out of the way for the moment, but it remains unsettled. The Dingley tariff law stood unchanged for twelve years. This latest abortion will be lucky if it is not changed in twelve months.

THE TURMOIL IN SPAIN

"Since the beginning of the disturbance in Spain questions of Spanish securities in London and Paris have dropped about two and a half points. Exterior four, the active Spanish issue on the London exchange, sold on Thursday at 94½, as against a normal price of 97½. On the Paris Bourse, Spanish Exterior and Interior four are dealt in, and these have dropped correspondingly within the last few days. With these exceptions, no Spanish bonds are quoted outside Spain," says the Wall Street Journal.

"It appears from the comparatively small fluctuation of Spanish issues in London and Paris that the demoralization and unrest among the Spanish proletariat and the disasters which have attended military operations in Morocco have been grossly exaggerated in the cable reports published here. There seems no doubt that were the dynasty in danger there would be a drop not of two and a half, but of ten points or more.

"The fact that bankers in Spanish cities are sending their securities and cash across the frontier need not be taken as an acknowledgment that the monarchy is in actual peril. The existence of mob rule may endanger property instead of placing the reigning house in jeopardy.

"One of the most extraordinary incidents of the affair is the rapid growth of enmity to the person of the King, Alfonso XIII, since his accession has done much to overcome the popular dislike to the regent branch of the Spanish Bourbons. The heroic and persistent effort of his mother, Maria Christina, to hold a throne for her son won the grudging admiration of all classes of the Carlist following; and the recent death of the Carlist pretender seemed to remove the last vestige of opposition to the King. Therefore the change of popular opinion appears incomprehensible until we remember the volatile and passionate nature of the Spanish people.

"Financiers and statesmen in Europe are able to gauge the significance of events in Spain better than we are on this side of the water; and so long as European bourses are practically unaffected by the insurrections in Spanish cities, there does not seem to be much reason to fear for the Bourbon dynasty."

It did not pay Former Detective Wagner to tell his cock and bull story of seeing money handed to members of the state legislature to vote for Stephenson and in the next three years he will have a chance to consider it at all. Also the members of the investigation committee that permitted the story to be told ought to be punished in some manner if possible. Indirectly they were responsible for his dreamings.

Of the dozen or more recent strikes only the Philadelphia car strike resulted in material gain to the strikers. In many cases the effect has been permanent demoralization and actual want. If workmen would write down the profit and loss on strike account from the beginning of labor trouble to the present time they would be appalled at the balance on the wrong side.

Newspaper reports state that Speaker Cannon is going to punish the insurgent congressmen by taking away choice committee assignments. If this be true then it will be hard for some of them to explain to their constituents why they should be returned as republican members to the next congress.

Instead of aiming at reforming the whole city at once the council should aim to reform the streets a little. Corn growing in prominent streets of the city does not show the progress that many citizens would like to see.

The old South wing of the state capital is the next to be razed and with it goes the work of a Janesville contractor and also of many Janesville men who worked upon it when it was constructed years ago.

This is the time of the year when the farmers are the busiest; yet they find time to keep in touch with their tariff question and are most anxious to have congress adjourn.

Senator Stephenson may be an old man, but still he is just as lively down in Washington as the rest of the Senators and he can not be called an "ag" by the government either.

The state is going to move that big dome itself. The contractors fought shy of the job, so the state is going to take it down and put it up again on the state university buildings.

Georgia, which has become "extra dry" in a prohibition sense, now proposes to tax soda fountain drinks. It is popularly believed that soda is already heavily charged.

A western financier predicts that in a short time "irrigation bonds will flood the eastern markets." We hope they will contain less water than the projects represented.

The rain that was wanted so much came yesterday, but in some localities it did more damage to the crops than it did good.

State politics continue to boll and bubble but thus far nothing definite has come of all the stalling of the fires beyond a little smoke.

Coincidence!

"Now, Tommie," said the teacher, "you may give me an example of a coincidence." "Why, er," said Tommie with some hesitation, "why, er, why—no father and no mother was both married on the same day."—Harpor's Weekly.

A GUESS FOR THE DISMAYED.

I believe, therefore I affirm—

When God made me he made me to be TRUE and USEFUL and HAPPY.

If I am to be TRUE I must regard the life that befall me as so much discipline of my spiritual self; I must believe that the perils through which I pass must "work out a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory."

If I am to be USEFUL, each day's test must strengthen my character and ennoble my life, suffering must make me wise and able to help my fellows.

If I am to be HAPPY I must not waste my days with repinings or my strength with useless regrets. I must face the future bravely. I must have a calm intellect and a spirit of optimism.

I believe, therefore I affirm—

If God made me a quickening spirit he made that spirit to be the MASTER OF MY FATE.

Therefore my soul shall not be crushed by failure nor ruined by disaster, for circumstances shall be my slave and not my lord.

When disappointments come I will rise above them. They shall be as cobblestones beneath my feet.

And my failures shall give me wisdom, so that out of sore defects I shall win a victory, rising on the stepping stones of my dead self to higher things.

I believe, therefore I affirm—

God gives us yesterday's. He gives us only the best. HE GIVES TOMORROW.

Then shall I face tomorrow's new opportunities with new courage and new hope. And, though the clouds may lower, I shall be sure that in his wanted place will be the sun, rejoicing as a strong man to run his race.

Tomorrow and tomorrow I shall do my best and be therewith content. I shall save myself the weakness of worry.

Tomorrow I shall make no regrets of today, and I will not dissipate my soul with fears.

Tomorrow I will assert my birthright as a son of the Infinite.

I will go my way and be a man.

For I am an immortal soul, and nothing in all God's universe can hurt me.

PUBLIC FIRE TEST TOMORROW EVENING

Exhibition of New Steam Fire Engine Will Be Given at West End of Fourth Avenue Bridge.

Tomorrow evening at seven o'clock at the west end of the Fourth Avenue bridge a public test of the new "Abrams" steam fire engine will be held, providing there is neither wind nor storm to prevent the carrying out of the plans of Chief of the Fire Department Klein. The hour for the trial was chosen in order that many of those who desired to, and who have been unable to do so on account of having to work, may witness this test.

OBITUARY.

Andrew Douglas

The funeral of the late Andrew Douglas, who passed away Thursday evening, was held from the home in the town of Harmony yesterday afternoon and a number of Janesville people, including several comrades in the Second Wisconsin regiment, took their last respects to the dead. President W. C. Dahand of Milton College delivered the sermon, and Rev. Charles James Hadden, Samuel Godfrey, James Beaton, and William Caldwell were the pallbearers. Interment was made at Johnston Center.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

HOW to be cool though hot, how to be sufficiently alive to fill your place in the world though very nearly dead with the heat, is the question that is absorbing a large proportion of the population a large proportion of the time just now.

Got just as much sleep as you possibly can is the most emphatic hot weather suggestion I have to make.

I have observed that the hot days that I have found unendurable have always followed on nights when I didn't get enough sleep. And the days when I could defy the heat were those when I had eight or nine or ten hours of sleep—strength to face it with.

I have found this to be true with a good many people and I fancy that if you examine your own case you will find there is a good deal of cause and effect between a short night's sleep and an utterly unendurable hot day.

It isn't at all easy to go to bed early in hot weather.

The sweetness of the summer dusk, the lure of a moonlit veranda, the comfort of a gently swaying hammock are all temptations to late hours, but if you have work to do the next day and cannot afford to be laid low with the heat I should suggest that you think of that when the clock strikes ten.

May be you think you can't get to sleep before midnight these hot nights, but if you start early enough to cool yourself by a tubbing of cool—not cold—water, I guess you'll have as good a chance as you would two or three hours later.

"I eat almost nothing this hot weather," is a remark I heard at least a dozen women make during the last hot spell.

That's another reason d'être for hot weather listlessness.

I believe that since one certainly needs more strength to endure the hot weather one must have sufficient food to create that strength.

Do not, of course, overload your stomach.

And do not, equally of course, eat heat-producing foods such as oatmeal and meat.

But of simple, nourishing, cooling foods I believe one should eat just as much as his appetite will allow.

If you simply can't bear the thought of anything hearty what's the matter with a bowl of crackernut and milk or a double egg nog?

There is no need to tell women to dress coolly. Convention, as it happens, has for once been kinder to them than to men, and what fashion dictates in the matter of dress, common sense does not need to reinforce.

But there is one wee suggestion that I would like to make and that is that loose corsets make hot weather comfort to an extraordinarily great degree.

But after all that's one of the things that "every woman knows," and since she who values comfort above appearance will make use of the knowledge anyway and she who doesn't, won't, that's rather a superfluous suggestion.

Consider it omitted.

Arriving On The Ground.—The contractor for laying the Nicolson pavement has received a portion of the material necessary for that work. The balance will arrive immediately and it will not be long before our citizens will enjoy the privilege of riding over an excellent street. It will take our people some time to realize the fact that they are still in Janesville when this improvement is completed.

Taglight.—Two of our youthful sports got into a wordy altercation on the street, Saturday evening, all about a girl, who it seems was dividing her affection between the two, and concluding that further effort at a settlement through the medium of epithets was useless, proceeded to a secluded spot in a back alley, to resort to the "manly art," to decide on the momentous question of which could kick the other, relying on the recognized law of nations that the victor belongs the spoils. Boys are bound to quarrel and there is no need of convincing argument in the settlement of their differences than that might is right. Reason and logic are but puny weapons when brought into the field against muscle. Each of the combatants are bristling with pride and each confident of the ability to use up his opponent. They stood squarely up to their work, giving and taking with a will, and after three closely contested rounds, the smaller of the two was knocked out of time, which decided the battle in favor of his more bulky antagonist.

DAILY DIET HINTS
By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.

STARCH NEEDS THOROUGH COOKING, ALBUMEN NOT.

Cereal starch must be thoroughly cooked to make it digestible, but the same cooking coagulates the albumen, which is an important constituent of all cereals, making it largely unassimilable. Failure to recognize the former fact has prevented the advocates of the use of raw food from avoiding many mistakes, and full recognition of that fact has led many to oppose the use of natural food, which has been found the chief necessity for recovery in many cases from serious digestive and other disturbances. And failure to recognize the fact that albumen coagulated by heat is largely unassimilable has prevented both factions from agreement which would be beneficial to the cause of the natural cure of disease in which dietetics play an important part. Both of these important truths—the indigestibility of uncooked cereal starch and the poisonous character of roasted albumen—have been thoroughly demonstrated.

Probable Fatal Accident.—Yesterday while a couple of lads residing in the Fourth Ward were handling a loaded revolver it was accidentally discharged, and the ball took effect in the stomach of one of the lads named Murphy, about 15 years of age. The bullet passed diagonally through him lodging near the back bone. It has not yet been extracted and the fear is that the wound will prove fatal.

HARV VESTING WHEAT IN THE INLAND EMPIRE.

Spokane, Wash.—Furling fields of grain in the inland empire are now being stripped of their golden wealth. The wheat harvest is on and it is estimated that more than 63,000,000 bushels will have been garnered before the last of the 2,300 cutting and threshing machines finish their task. The gathering of the crop in the wheat belts in eastern Washington and Oregon, north and central Idaho and western Montana means the employment of 65,000 men, who will receive between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000 in wages during the harvest season, which while the value of the crop is placed at from $75,000,000 to $80,000,000, as the machines will cut approximately 50 per cent of the total yield at a saving of 5 cents a bushel and two bushels of waste grain the acre more than $5,000,000 will be added to the growers' revenue. Ranchers estimate that the average cost of saving the crop is 10 cents a bushel, exclusive of bugs and haulage to warehouses. A crew of five men on a combined harvester operated by 32 horses will cut, thresh and sack the grain from 700 acres during a season, while in the old way, with header and thrasher, it required 10 men and an equal number of horses and more apparatus than by the present method.

Forty Years Ago

Janesville Daily Gazette, August 2, 1869.—Fell in.—A man, while crossing the river yesterday on the timbers of the old bridge, which is being demolished, trusted his weight on a loose plank, and was quickly deposited in the bottom of the river. He managed to escape a watery grave by wading ashore.

Not Safe.—Any man who has taken a benzine sour should avoid crossing the upper bridge. It is pretty much all one who is sober, can do to accomplish that feat, especially as nearly half the plank is taken up to make way for the new structure.

You want the real corn flavor in toasted cornflakes. "Yellow" cornflakes give it to you. Try this new one! It's the best!

5000 Want Ads will go to more people than you will see in a month. That is why they rent houses.

Origin of the Theater.
There is a legend in Japan that the theater had its origin in that country in the fifth century by reason of an earthquake which took place in the province of Yamato. A large crovie was formed by reason of the upheaval, and from which emanated poisonous vapors which spread death and destruction all around. An awful pestilence was the result, until the priest conceived the idea of performing a symbolic dance of incantation on a grass-covered hill outside the temple. As if by magic the death vapors vanished and peace and happiness were restored to the country. The legend concludes that this is how Japanese acting originated. The Japanese word for "theater," Shihai-Ya, is supposed to have come from its origin, Shihai-Ya, meaning "seed," and Ya, a "house."

THE REVOLT IS STILL UNCHECKED

SPANISH REVOLUTIONARIES CONTINUE FIERCE BATTLE IN BARCELONA.

REPUBLIC IS PROCLAIMED

Report Received in London, Declares the Rebels Have Announced Free Government—Official Declarations of Peaceful Tenor.

Cerbers, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Aug. 2.—The latest news received here from Barcelona is to the effect that fighting between the troops and the revolutionaries continues fiercely. It is reported that 40 revolutionaries have been shot without trial at the Montjuich fortress, among them being Emiliano Iglesias, editor of the Progreso, the organ of Deputy Leroux, chief of the Republicans in Barcelona.

The situation in Palamos, the center of the cork industry, is reported to be alarming and fears are expressed for the safety of foreigners there.

London, Aug. 2.—A dispatch received here by a news agency from Cerber, France, reports that the revolutionaries have proclaimed a republic in Barcelona and that the fortress Montjuich is constantly firing upon the districts occupied by them.

Desertions from the Army. Madrid, Aug. 2.—The government announces that, despite the attitude of the populace of Catalonia and the desertions from the army in northern Spain, the response of the recruits and reservists to the call to the colors in other provinces, like Aragon and Andalusia, was unanimous.

The minister of war has prohibited the departure from Spain of all persons subject to military duty, under the penalty of being considered deserters. The government has also placed a ban on the sale of foreign papers containing accounts of recent events in Catalonia and Morocco.

An official note says the latest advice from Barcelona are to the effect that order reigns and that work has been commenced again in several factories and the gas lighting plant will soon be re-established.

San Sebastian, Aug. 2.—Despite the official announcement that order has been restored in Catalonia, renewed measures have been taken to prevent an outbreak elsewhere, especially in the Bilbao region, where the Socialists and advanced Republicans are organizing. The garrisons at Burgos, Vittoria and San Sebastian are being held in readiness to act quickly and energetically.

Says Rebellion is Suppressed.

Paris, Aug. 2.—The Marquis del Muni, Spanish ambassador to France, in an interview declared that he had most reassuring news from Catalonia and Melilla. He insisted that only 200 men had been killed and 500 wounded in the fighting in Morocco and that the rebellion in Catalonia had been completely mastered. The ambassador denied categorically the existence of the alleged text of a secret Hispano-France treaty of 1904, which was published in Germany, and under the conditions of which France agreed to lead Spain her assistance in Africa.

Refugees and travelers declare the revolt is still rampant and that desperate combats continue at Barcelona. Although Barcelona may be calmer the insurrectionists have taken to the suburbs and the outlying country where they are sowing the seeds of revolt and inflaming the populace to maintain the struggle to the bitter end.

From Melilla comes the news of another Spanish convoy being ambushed and several of its officers being wounded before the troops succeeded in extricating themselves from the attack of the tribesmen.

The Matin's correspondent, who has visited Figueras, Gerona, La Bisbal, Palafrugell, Palamos and other towns in Spain, but who did not reach Barcelona, says the temper of the people is bitter and that if the revolt is suppressed it will be easily rekindled.

BRODHEAD TO HAVE A TRAINING SCHOOL

Green County City Chosen As Temporary Home for County Institution.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Brodhead, Aug. 2.—A meeting of the committee having in charge the matter of selecting the temporary location for the county training school was held in this city on Saturday to consider the proposals from the various places. After due deliberation Brodhead was chosen. This decision means not a little to Brodhead and her citizens as it will bring together, in all probability, from seventy-five to a hundred educators from this part of the state whose presence no doubt will lend an impetus to educational matters. At a recent meeting of the committee Prof. Chas. Dietz of Monroe was elected as principal, and other talent will soon be chosen. It is designed to open the school about September 12th.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Fairman and two sons, who went from Spring Grove township to Mont, South Dakota two years ago, arrived here on Friday to spend some weeks with relatives and old friends. Mr. Fairman intends to spend his time with a threshing outfit owned by himself and others until the fall threshing is done. They left their farm interests in good hands and report crops as very fine.

James Douglas was exhibiting some fine samples of splendid large silver prisms on Saturday, which were grown in the state of Oregon, a quantity of which he has had shipped to him for use the coming winter.

H. C. Atherton of Albany was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Dixon and family on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Cobb were passengers to Deloit, Saturday, where he had business.

Marzo Crunk of Madison is here the guest of his cousin, Rockwell Barnes.

Thomas Hamilton of Durand, Ill., spent Saturday in Brodhead with relatives and others.

Horace Blackman, a former resident here and student of our high school, came Saturday to remain over Sunday at the home of Dr. J. L. Fleck. Mr. Blackman now resides in Chicago and has a position as traveling salesman, his territory being in Michigan.

Mr. W. R. Hottelshof of Menomonie arrived here Saturday for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Burr. His daughter, Lillian, who has been here for some weeks, will return home with her.

Dr. Roy Karney of Chicago spent Sunday here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Karney and others.

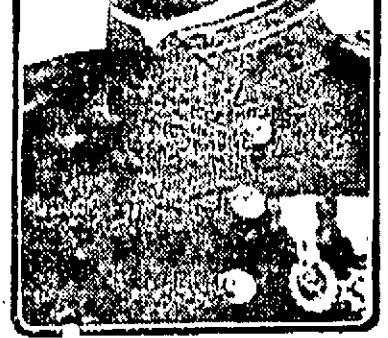

Donna A. Douglas returned home Saturday from the vicinity of Peacotica where he had been on a fishing and poaching outing. He had with him an exquisite button pearl of a most brilliant green tint. He reports fishing as fairly good in that section.

Rev. Foster spoke at the union meeting in the city park last evening instead of Rev. Holsing, as previously announced. Rev. Holsing will deliver his lecture on "Christianity and Durand" on Thursday evening. All are invited to attend.

The August Shorb cottage in Deane Park has just been newly painted and presents a neat and attractive appearance.

"LIVE WIRES." Past Assistant Surgeon Rupert Blue, who rid San Francisco of the plague.

Through the efforts of one man the greatest disaster from plague in recent years was averted from the United States. This man was Past Assistant Surgeon Rupert Blue, of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service.

Through Dr. Blue's energy and efforts the co-operation of the citizens of San Francisco was obtained and a body of men known as the Citizens' Health committee was organized. They followed the greatest fight ever undertaken against disease. For over a year one of the most thorough-going and educational campaigns ever witnessed in any country on the globe was under way in San Francisco.

The plague has already killed about 5,000,000 people in India alone, and was gaining a foothold on every continent when Dr. Blue was assigned the task of stamping it out in the United States. The work was done so thoroughly and so quietly that the immensity of it has been little appreciated outside of those active in the campaign. The stricken rats, the germ-laden fleas, the earthquake debris, did not prevent the worse plagues to Dr. Blue. In addition he had to face the passive resistance of a community which did not want to organize its own fight and which had been scared into asking for federal help.

Dr. Blue first won the confidence of the leading men of the coast and then the whole people. He induced the city to do the right thing for itself and for the country at an enormous cost of money, time and energy. The success of Dr. Blue and of the Citizens' Health committee accomplished the result in an astonishing short time. The effects of the work done or started under the impetus of Dr. Blue will probably make themselves felt as long as the city stands.

Now that the plague has been entirely stamped out, many there are who sneer at the affair as "hysterical over-exertion" but those who know the conditions will always look upon Dr. Blue and his work in San Francisco as of fundamental importance in the development of the Golden Gate city.

ADMITS HAVING STOLEN $10,000 FROM ADAMS EXPRESS CO.

Chicago, Ill.—"Well, I certainly have been a fool. I've been a sucker from the drop of the hat in this case. I was a fool when I took the money. I admit, but I was more of a fool when I was sucker enough to give it back. If I'd only stood pat you guys certainly never would have got the screws tight enough on me to make me weech. But I guess you found my yellow streak. I didn't know before that I had one." ZIMMERMAN.

Clayton T. Zimmerman, Jr., has confessed to stealing the $10,000 from the Adams Express company, which amount has been missed for several days and for which the officials and detectives have been looking everywhere.

Almost from the first Zimmerman had been suspected. The boy committed one fatal blunder, and it was as plain as day to the company investigators that he knew more than he was admitting concerning the disappearance of the money.

Zimmerman worked in the department from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until between 11 and 12 o'clock at night. When the package came into the department from the bank he "spotted" it at once as just about of the right size for the little scheme he had mapped out.

As William Kauffman, who is head of the department, signed for the money, Zimmerman stepped to his side at the window and made a mental note of the package.

A little later it became the duty of Kauffman to make a waybill for the packages. The waybill was made and attached to the package and possibly half an hour afterward both were deposited at Zimmerman's desk. Zimmerman was to make an abstract of the bill. Instead of abstracting the waybill, he sorted it from the score or more of others like it and tore it into bits. This destroyed the only record of the shipment the office had.

In the abstracting procedure Zimmerman made the blunder that cost him. After tearing up the way bill he carelessly abstracted the bill following exactly as he would have recorded the original bill. A trace of this bill revealed that certain manipulations had taken place and it was known that only one person in the office was in position to make the changes which had taken place. By this lead the investigators concentrated their attention almost exclusively on the young clerk, but he bore up steadily.

Zimmerman unknowingly became nervous after the theft, and this increased the suspicion of those who were watching him. Finally Detectives McGinnis and Ellsworth descended upon him while he was at work and requested him to accompany them to his home.

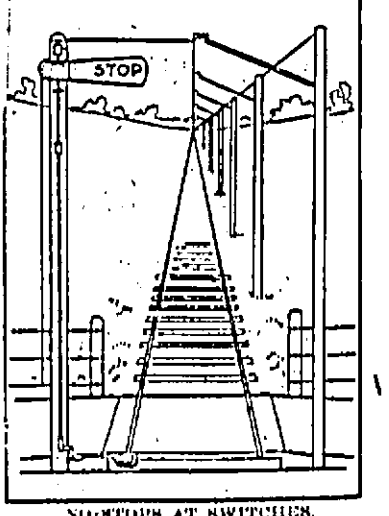

There he questioned after an hour of questioning and told where the money could be found. Nailed behind the wallpaper he showed them 10 packages of $5 bills, 100 bills in each package, four packages of $10 bills, 100 bills per package, and one package containing 99 $10 certificates. "I was not excited in the least at any stage of the game," the prisoner said, "and it is only my yellow streak that landed me in jail. I made the mistake first of abstracting the bill wrongly and then in admitting to the cops that I had money. There was no girl mixed in my plans. I intended to buy a house and lot in about seven years, but not because I had any intentions of getting married. A house and lot is a good investment."

TROLLEY SETS SIGNALS

Operated Automatically as Car Passes Over Switch.

Ever since the trolley lines have been spreading out through the country people have been asking themselves why somebody did not invent a signal system which would not necessitate the stopping of the cars at switches until the conductor got off and changed the signals or lights, as the case might be. An Indiana man answered this by designing such a system, the operation of which is shown in the illustration. The invention consists of a signal post like the usual signal post with the signals operated by means of a lever which passes under the tracks. A person wishing to board the trolley pulls a cord or wire which swings the semaphore arm to a horizontal position, if it be daytime, or lights on electric light, if it be night. As the car passes over the switch, after taking the passenger aboard, the automatic action drops the semaphore and extinguishes the light or changes its color.

NO STOP AT SWITCHES.
